

Safety

At Chrysler Corporation, we look at safety as a subject that involves more than a safety department. Instead, we've made it a company-wide commitment. A commitment that extends across all vehicle platforms, involves every engineer and product planner, and finds its way into every brand, every product line, and every model we offer.

This approach appears to be working. Here, you'll see how.

*Always use seat belts. Remember a back seat is the safest place for children.
